Apr 11, 2022 When you see the letter B, remember that the capital letter of the noun before it is in the genitive case, and the small letter is in the accusative case. For example, the capital letter in BAM is the genitive of the small letter AM. Remember also that a small letter before a capital letter is a noun and the other way around is a verb. You can say The fire department got here first. But, If you're saying, We got to the fire department first, you have to use We because the second half of the sentence is a verb. In this example, We got to first, first is the subject, second is the direct object, and last is the indirect object. .
