That question led to a revealing series of answers, in which contestants had to say how they would have felt if they had been given the chance to join a season of the long-running reality TV show. It was a conversation full of tears and regret. The biggest of which came from Nuku. "I would so have been on the merge. The current study compared the time course of activity in 4 brain regions (inferior occipital gyrus [BA 18], caudate nucleus, thalamus, and prefrontal cortex) during encoding, maintenance, and retrieval periods of a visuospatial working-memory task. We then examined the selectivity of these brain regions during the maintenance period by contrasting trials with different pattern overlap across remembered and forgotten items. Anterior and middle regions of the prefrontal cortex and caudate nucleus showed a greater response for remembered items than for forgotten items.
